

Who's the Horse?

It's tough to find a nanny these days. Just ask Ms. Lansbury. She had to hire a horse!

Having a horse for a nanny doesn't come cheap! Ms. Lansbury doesn't have much of a choice though. She pays Horsey $720.00 a week for 6 days of work. She withholds 25% for taxes. How much does Horsey take home for each day of work?

Ms. Lansbury asks Horsey to give the children a ride to school. Instead of taking them on his back, he takes the car! It seems that no one told him that horses can't drive! Horsey racks up 12 speeding tickets for $73.09 each before Ms. Lansbury puts a stop to it. How much did Horsey get fined in total?

Horsey takes the kids out for lunch. Ms. Lansbury has given him $40.00 to spend. At the hamburger shack, they buy 2 burgers for $2.95 each, 3 shakes for $1.95 each, a small fry for $2.55, and a bag of oats for $24.95. There is also an 8% sales tax on the food. Did Horsey have enough money to pay for everything?

"Who's the Horse?" asks Ms. Lansbury's neighbor, Zsa Zsa. "He needs a bath!" Apparently, she is not a fan of barnyard smells! Ms. Lansbury asks Horsey to take a shower down at the car wash. The kids come along for the ride! The car wash is normally $12.00 per person, but since he is a horse and not a car, they get a 30% discount. How much is Horsey's shower going to cost?
