

GET OFF MY LAWN!

Mr. Enojada is always angry about something. In his day, young whippersnappers showed respect to their elders. Also, they STAYED OFF OF YOUR LAWN!

One of Mr. Enojada's pet peeves is kids having fun. That goes double for skateboarders. He gets livid about the property damage these pests cause and is always shaking his fist at the kids using the skate park. Each skateboarder that uses the park winds up causing about 2 cents of damage in wear and tear on the concrete. What will be the total cost after 5575 kids have used the park?

Mr. Enojada also has a major issue with the hamburger shoppe down the street. The cook who makes the burgers is always messing them up. They are either too juicy or not juicy enough. Mr. Enojada used to always complain and demand a refund, but lately they have just been giving him the burger for free so that they don't have to hassle with the paperwork. It doesn't stop him from complaining though. Enojada has been getting a free burger 3.5 times per week for the last 28 weeks. Each burger costs $2.95. How much money has Mr. Enojada's lack of customer satisfaction cost the burger shoppe?

And let's not forget Mr. Enojada's long-standing feud with his neighbors. Their children are always walking across his yard! In Mr. Enojada's day, kids knew proper respect and were not always staring at their phone. Every time they walk across it, they squash about 125 blades of grass. There are only 1,000,000 blades of grass in the yard. How many trips can the kids make before they squash the whole yard?

Mr. Enojada finally decides to investigate this whole "smart phone" thing. He is astonished to learn that it is possible to complain to thousands of people at the same time using something called the "internet." He even finds some people who are crankier than he is! Mr. Enojada is soon posting 20 complaints, gripes, and screeds per day. Each post is about 1.25 kilobytes. How long will it take for Mr. Enojada to post 1000 kilobytes of messages?
